

THE UNIVERSITY OF LATVIA
FACULTY OF FOREIGN LANGUAGES

Ingrīda Kramiņa

LINGUO- DIDACTIC THEORIES
UNDERLYING MULTI-PURPOSE
LANGUAGE ACQUISITION

RĪGA 1999

ABSTRACT

The research is based on more than 25 years of theoretical studies and academic work with multi-purpose language programmes at secondary and tertiary level.

The teaching aid 'Open Your Mind' for listening comprehension is based on the linguistic, methodological and educational theories discussed in the present theoretical study.

The most recent multi-purpose teaching aid CD-ROM 'BALTIC' was developed on the basis of the research performed.

The teaching aid has been designed within the framework of the European Council 'Copernicus' project 'BALTIC' (Copernicus Project No 0595).

The project manager and co-ordinator for the Baltic States Universities - Ingrida Kramiņa.

CONTENTS

Abstract	2
Acknowledgements	6
Introduction	7
1. Linguistic Theories on Language and Language Acquisition.....	11
1.1 The Nature of Human Language and Language Acquisition.....	11
1.2 Language in Use.....	14
1.3 Language and Intellectual Development.....	19
2. Theories on Language Learning, Acquisition and Teaching
Methodology.....	22
2.1 Learning.....	22
2.2 Adult Learning.....	22
2.3 Language Learning and Language Acquisition.....	24
2.4 Levels and Scaling in Foreign Language Learning.....	26
2.4.1 Understanding of a “Learning Level”.....	26
2.4.2 Scales of Language Proficiency. Scaling.....	27
2.4.3 Methods of Stating Language Proficiency Levels.....	28
2.4.4 Scale Purpose.....	32
3. Purposes of Foreign Language Learning.....	34
3.1 English Language Learning for Specific Purposes and Professional Purposes.....	34
3.2 English Language Learning for Academic Purposes and for Research Purposes.....	37
4. Pedagogy Underlying Language Skills Development.....	38
4.1 Academic Skills and Learning Strategies at the Tertiary Level.....	38
4.2 Language as Discourse.....	42
4.2.1 The Understanding of Discourse.....	42
4.2.2 Macro-functions of Language.....	44
4.2.3 Micro-functions of Language.....	45
4.3 Language Skills Development.....	46
5. Listening Skills.....	48
5.1 Emerging Recognition of the Listening in Foreign Language Study.....	48
5.2 Three Perspectives on Listening and Language Study.....	49
5.3 Communicative Outcomes of the Listening Procedure.....	56
5.4 Principles Governing Development of Listening Comprehension.....	60
5.5 Principles Governing Materials’ Development for Listening Comprehension.....	61
6. Speaking Skills.....	63
6.1 The Importance of Speaking Skills in Foreign Language Teaching/Learning.....	63
6.2 Communicative Language Competences.....	63
6.3 Communication Strategies.....	66
6.3.1 Reception Strategies.....	67
6.3.2 Production Strategies.....	68
6.3.3 Interaction Strategies.....	69
6.3.4 Mediation Strategies.....	69
6.3.5 Activities Promoting the Development of Speaking Skills.....	70

6.3.6	Dialogues.....	74
6.3.7	Role Play.....	76
6.3.8	Simulation.....	78
6.3.9	Structure and Stages of Role Play and Simulation.....	79
6.3.10	Communicative Language Teaching and Personal Expression.....	80
6.3.11	Principles and Theories on Speaking Skills Development.....	83
7.	Reading Skills.....	86
7.1	The Importance of Reading in Foreign Language Teaching/Learning...	86
7.2	Reading Skills Oriented Language Syllabi.....	89
7.3	Pre-reading Activities.....	91
7.4	While-reading Activities.....	95
7.4.1	Deducing Meaning.....	96
7.4.2	Questioning.....	96
7.4.3	Encouraging Learners to Devise Questions for One Another.....	98
7.4.4	Questions to Guide Learners.....	99
7.4.5	Recognising the Purpose of the Text.....	103
7.5	Post-reading Activities.....	105
7.6	Principles and Theories Concerning Reading Skills Development.....	106
8.	Writing Skills.....	108
8.1	Methodological Theories Concerning the Concept “Skill of Writing”...	108
8.2	Teaching Writing at the Tertiary Level and the Baltic States Advanced Writing Project.....	111
8.3	Approaches to Writing.....	113
8.3.1	Process Approaches to Writing.....	114
8.3.2	The Genre Approach to Writing.....	119
8.4	Writers: Knowledge and Roles.....	122
8.4.1	Types of Knowledge that Writers Need.....	122
8.4.2	Roles that Writers Perform.....	123
8.4.3	Skills Writers Need to Develop.....	124
8.5	Written Communication: Structure and Style.....	124
8.5.1	Efficiency.....	124
8.5.2	Politeness.....	125
8.6	Specific Types of Academic Writing.....	126
8.7	The Role of the Teacher in Teaching/Learning Advanced Writing.....	127
8.8	An Idealised Writing Curriculum.....	128
8.9	Samples of Academic Writing Activities and Genres Included in the Advanced Writing Curriculum.....	130
8.9.1	Taking Notes.....	130
8.9.1.1	Aims and Methods of Note-taking.....	130
8.9.1.2	Samples of Tasks, Recommended for Note-taking Skills Development.....	133
8.9.1.3	Making Mind Maps from Reading.....	135
8.9.2	Writing Summaries.....	137
8.9.2.1	Definition of a “Summary”.....	137
8.9.2.2	Classroom Activities for Introducing Summary Writing.....	138
8.9.3	Writing Abstracts.....	142
8.9.3.1	Definition of an Abstract.....	142
8.9.3.2	Procedures for Practising Abstract Writing.....	142
8.9.4	Writing a Review.....	144
8.9.4.1	Definition of a Review.....	144
8.9.4.2	The Procedure of Review Writing.....	145
8.9.5	Writing Essays.....	147
8.9.5.1	Definition of an Essay.....	147

8.9.5.2	Aims and Objectives of Teaching Essay Writing.....	149
8.9.5.3	The Procedure of Teaching Essay Writing.....	151
8.9.5.3.1	Generating Ideas.....	151
8.9.5.3.2	Focusing and Drafting.....	153
8.9.5.3.3	Transforming Personal Experiences and Establishing a Viewpoint.....	154
8.9.5.3.4	Assessing the Essay Writing.....	155
8.9.5.3.4.1	Four Philosophies on Composition.....	155
8.9.5.3.4.2	Methods and Techniques of Involving Students in Essay Evaluation....	158
9.	Correlation Between the Level of Language Skills Development and Language Learning Level.....	161
10.	Multi-purpose Language Learning/Teaching.....	166
10.1	Factors Conditioning Multi-purpose Language Learning at the Tertiary Level.....	166
10.2	Ways and Means of Coping with Multi-purpose Language Learning and Different Levels of Language Proficiency.....	168
10.2.1	Curriculum Design and Multiple Study Purposes.....	168
10.2.2	Teaching Materials Aimed at Multi-purpose Studies.....	171
10.2.2.1	Description of Sample Teaching Materials Designed and Developed at the University of Latvia.....	171
10.2.2.2	Different Approaches to Teaching Materials' Analysis and their Application in Materials Development.....	171
10.2.2.3	Teaching Materials and the Learner's Autonomy.....	176
10.2.2.4	Multi-purpose Computer Assisted Language Teaching Programme B.A.L.T.I.C.....	180
11.	Linguistic, Methodological and Educational Principles Underlying Multi-purpose Language Teaching/Learning.....	187
11.1	Linguistic Rules Governing Language Learning.....	187
11.2	Methodological and Educational Principles Underlying Language Studies.....	189
Conclusion		193
Bibliography		194
Annex		202